

TILLMAN, THE BOOP, AGAIN BREAKS OUT

SOUTH CAROLINA SENATOR SPOUTS SULPHURIOUSLY.

Descends to Personal Invective In His Tirade—Senator Hill Answers Him While Senator Sherman Refused to Be Drawn Into the Discussion—Washington News.

Washington, May 2.—The debate in the senate was of a dramatic character, recalling the famous Ingalls-Voorhees contest some years ago. Senator Tillman of South Carolina again brought his unique personality into the debate, his speech being the first of any length since his memorable maiden effort attacking public officials, high and low. While he spoke today the silver pitchfork recently presented to him in the west, was conspicuously displayed on his scarf.

The senator used the blunt words characteristic of his utterances, arraigning the president and cabinet officers with unsparing criticism and personal invective. He also addressed himself personally to Mr. Hill and Mr. Sherman and drew from the former several sharp rejoinders, while Mr. Sherman declined to be brought into a controversy with the South Carolina senator.

Mr. Hill followed Mr. Tillman, answering the latter point by point. The New York senator referred to the coming democratic national convention, declaring that there would be no split, but that true democracy would recognize the rule of the majority and keep the party intact, despite the threats of the South Carolina senator to leave the party. Mr. Hill spoke freely and frankly of his differences with the officers of the administration and in particular referred to the grievous mistake, as he regarded it, of Secretary Carlisle in not supporting Senator Blackburn, when the latter was the nominee of the democratic caucus.

The senator discussed internal party affairs, urging harmony and the termination of venomous assaults by democrats on a democratic president. He spoke for two hours and was accorded the closest attention. The debate attracted a great crowd to the senate wing of the capitol, the greatest since congress assembled, filling the senate galleries and overflowing into the corridors, where long lines of people struggled for admission.

Replying to a remark of Mr. Allen (pop., Neb.), Mr. Hill asserted that the populists of Kentucky could have elected Blackburn, but they peddled out their votes first to one party, then to the other.

Mr. Allen resented this insinuation. In answer to Mr. Hill's interrogatory as to what would keep him in the democratic party, Mr. Tillman said tersely: "Sixteen to one, or bust."

In the course of another passage at arms Mr. Tillman announced that the people needed a billion dollars. "We are going to have it," said he.

"A mere trifle," sneered Mr. Hill. "What would you do with it?"

"Build battle ships and coast defenses," replied Mr. Tillman, "put the tramp at work, set every wheel in motion, and make the country again prosperous and happy."

Senator Gear, chairman of the senate committee on Pacific railroads, today submitted the report of that committee on the question of refunding the government debt of the Pacific railroads. The committee appends a statement from the treasury department, showing what the estimated debt of the roads to the government will be Jan. 1, next.

Mr. Butler (pop., N. C.) presented a bill in the senate today making the Mexican silver dollar and the Japanese yen, each containing 37 1/4 grains of pure silver, and the trade dollar full legal tender dollars in the United States.

House Proceedings.

Washington, May 2.—The house again devoted the major portion of Friday to debate on the bankruptcy bill. Several amendments were offered, but none were adopted. A bill to provide for a delegate in congress from the territory of Alaska was defeated by a vote of 60 to 44.

Mr. Scranton (rep.) of Pennsylvania called up the bill and spoke of the development of the Alaska mining and fishing industries and the increase of population in the last fifteen years. Its vast area rendered it proper and necessary that it should have a well informed representative in the house. There were, he said, over 10,000 white Americans in Alaska.

Mr. Perkins (rep.) of Louisiana opposed the bill, urging the migratory nature of her white population and the improbability that Alaska could ever be governed, even by a territorial government. Certainly not for many years to come. He declared the pressure for the bill came from Alaskan corporations.

In the course of the debate on the bankruptcy bill Mr. Henderson of Iowa said from a letter received from a distinguished citizen of Indiana he would quote the following:

"I think the impression of some of our western boards of trade upon the bankruptcy question was that by reason of the nearness of our merchants to their customers they had an advantage with a bankrupt debtor."

The writer, Mr. Henderson said, was Benjamin Harrison, "who, as president or private citizen, stands for every part of this country and for all its great interests."

A bill was passed to authorize the free importation of foreign exhibits to the Tennessee exhibition, and the report to the contested election case of Wilson versus McLaurin from the sixth South Carolina district, confirming the title of the sitting member to his seat, was adopted.

YALE WON DEBATE.

Permanent Board of Arbitration Is Not Popular in that College.

New Haven, Conn., May 2.—Yale won her first intercollegiate debate from Harvard Friday night, and by unanimous verdict of the three judges who officiated. The debate was held in College Street hall, which was crowded. The audience was impartial and enthusiastic, and every speaker was forced by the hearty applause to wait several seconds before beginning his speech. Professor Edward J. Phelps, of the Yale law school, ex-minister to England, and chief American commissioner in the Behring Sea arbitration, presided and read the subject as follows:

"Resolved, That a Permanent Court of Arbitration Should be Established Between This Country and Great Britain."

Chicago, May 2.—Fred L. Ingraham proved himself the Demosthenes of the Northern Oratorical League, in Friday's contest comprising six institutions of learning, and for the fifth time the yellow and blue of the University of Michigan is triumphant. Only once has it lost in the history of the league.

ST. JOE SUBURB HAS A GHOST.

Residents of the Missouri Town Terrified by a Female Spectre.

St. Joseph, Mo., May 2.—A ghost is haunting Saxton Heights, a suburb of this city, in the form of a woman who flits about under the trees at night and screams until the residents of that vicinity are awakened. The spectre has been seen and heard on several occasions, but nobody has been able to get close enough to it to make an investigation. Last Sunday night 100 people heard the screams of the supposed ghost and many of them arose and dressed. A number of men went into the grove near by, from whence the unearthly screams were coming, and, while they could still hear moaning, as if some one was in mortal agony, they could see nothing. A hunting party will be organized for the purpose of capturing the ghost.

ATTEMPTED BRIBERY.

Senator Rogers Created a Sensation in a Newspaper Suit.

Philadelphia, May 2.—There was a sensation in the vice chancellor's chamber in Camden Friday during the testimony in the suit of William J. Thompson against the Philadelphia Press Publishing company. Senator Maurice A. Rogers testified that Thompson, while a member of the legislature, was working hard to secure race track legislation, being the owner of the largest track in the state himself. Senator Rogers said: "Thompson told me that Governor Abbott had said he could not sign a race track bill unless three republican senators voted for it. Mr. Thompson offered me $75,000 if I would procure those three votes. I refused."

DEATH OF THE SHAH LAID TO RUSSIA

ASSASSINATION OF PERSIAN RULER A CONSPIRACY.

Believed In England That the Czar's Intrigue Brought About the Monarch's Tragic End—Official News at Washington—Foreign Notes By the Cable.

London, May 2.—The story of the assassination of the Shah of Persia, as telegraphed from Teheran Friday afternoon contained no hint of a wide-spread conspiracy. It simply stated that while the shah was entering the inner court of the shrine of Shah Abdul Azim, six miles south of Teheran, he was shot through the heart; that immediately he was carried to his carriage and in it conveyed to the palace; that there he was attended by Dr. Tholegan, his chief physician, and other physicians who were hastily sent for. But in spite of their combined efforts his majesty expired about 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

It was known that the shah was arranging for a great celebration of his accession on May 6, and it appears that the conspirators were determined that he should not live to enjoy the event. While in a general way Nasr-ed-din was a humane and a progressive monarch, as far as Asiatic rulers go, still his love for money and for jewels prompted many cruel acts of confiscation and of barbarous punishment that made him thousands of enemies in all classes of society.

The whispered hints are uttered: "Did Russia have a hand in the tragedy?" No happening of note in Asiatic lands within the zone of Muscovite influence can take place unless suspicions of Russian treachery or duplicity are aroused. In the clubs Friday night the terrible affair at Teheran was coupled with the sensational dispatch published Wednesday in the Times, in which it was alleged that the czar's engineers had planned a railway in the vicinity of Herat that would menace that gateway to India. It will also be remembered that it was stated that with the line in operation the Russians could reach Herat much quicker than could English forces approaching from the opposite direction. It is not unlikely now that this projected line will be constructed faster than ever, and that prompt measures will be taken to win the favor of the new Persian ruler.

It is feared also that Russian intrigue will bring about disorders in Persia. It is known that the dead monarch coveted Herat, and made a foray in this direction, but a repulse by the British brought him to his senses. Should the new ruler be tempted to make a similar bellicose essay the results for all concerned would be extremely serious. Persia, Afghanistan, Britain and Russia would speedily become embroiled, and the result could not be predicted.

The killing of the shah has most certainly added to the troubles and the complications of the Salisbury cabinet.

An article in the Times on the late shah calls to mind that at the beginning of his reign he put to death by thousands the members of the Babi set, whose crusade against the corruption of the public and private manners in Persia was so popular as to become a menace to the government. "The chief apprehension that now arises," says the Times, "are lest the new shah's eldest brother, Zil-es-Sultan, should attempt to dispute the accession. (The late shah is succeeded by his second son and not the eldest son.) Zil-es-Sultan is governor of Ispahan and was for a long time the virtual ruler of southern Persia, till the late shah, in 1890, greatly reduced his power and disbanded his regiment."

George N. Curzon, under secretary of state for foreign affairs, who is an acknowledged authority on Persia, considers Mozafee Ed-Din Mirza Viliad, the new shah, a man of great intelligence, but he has been so secluded all his life as to have no knowledge of the duties incumbent upon him as ruler of Persia.

News at Washington.

Washington, May 2.—The following cablegram was received by Secretary Olney at 2:40 o'clock Friday afternoon from United States Minister McDonald at Teheran, Persia:

THE TRADE REVIEW BY DUN & COMPANY

BUT A SMALL GAIN IN TRADE IS SHOWN.

Merchants Are Now More Conservative—Increase in Business Sufficient to Prevent Many Failures, But Affords Very Scant Relief to the Overstocked Factories.

New York, May 2.—R. G. Dun, & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade, which issues today, will say:

"As the season advances there is more business, but advices indicate that on the whole the prevalent feeling is that the gain is less than there was reason to expect. While retail trade has been active enough to prevent a great many threatened embarrassments, it has not yet brought enough new business to mills or factories to prevent decrease of unfilled orders and closing of some works. Substantially the same state of affairs exists in all the great industries, notwithstanding the strong combinations in some, and evidence of inadequate consumption appears in the fact that the general range of prices for commodities, farm and mine, as well as manufactured products, is nearly 1 per cent lower than it was April 1, and the lowest ever known, the decline since October, 1892, being 16.7 per cent.

"Speculation has raised cotton an eighth, though receipts and crop prospects still favor lower prices, and accumulated stocks of unsold goods are very large. Wheat has declined 4 1/2 cents for cash, with better accounts of winter and rapid seeding of spring. With only two months of the crop year remaining, there is little to encourage higher prices. Silk has weakened a little, owing to the overloading of Japanese dealers. Wool is weaker, the wool year closing with the greatest quantity of wool on hand ever carried at this season. April sales were smaller than in any month since June, 1894. Exports continue, both of domestic and foreign wool, and sales by manufacturers who lack orders to continue production.

"Woolen goods have not improved in demand, and flannels have opened 5 to 15 per cent lower than last year, though the material decrease of production has given to other men's goods a rather stronger tone. Dress goods are helped by the restriction of foreign imports, but the association reports that the wool machinery is not more than half employed. Some cotton mills have ceased production, including one large printing establishment, and stocks on hand still increase, though the brown goods there has been a better legitimate demand, and great quantities of gingham have been moved by drives at prices low beyond all precedent. The decrease in shipment of woolen goods from Europe has been quite marked, and stocks in warehouses are large and increasing.

"Large purchases of lake ore by the principal consumers, contracts securing control of low phosphorus ore, and lower rail rates to Chicago for Connellsville coke in order to compete with Pocahontas coke, are the main features in the iron industry, but the revival of demand is yet deferred. Higher prices for nails have caused active buying for the week, but large consumers decline to contract as yet for bars, and the rod combination has fallen through. Middlemen still sell steel billets at $19 at Pittsburg, against $20 asked by the pool, but the stock available is said to be only 30,000 tons. Structural prospects are good, but in other branches the demand is less active, and Bessemer pig is weak at $13 at Pittsburg. The anthracite coal concerns have advanced the price 25 cents per ton."

TO PROTECT FREE LABOR.

Bill to Confine Prison-Made Goods to States Where Produced.

Washington, May 2.—Representative Gardner, of New Jersey, from the committee on labor, has submitted to the house a favorable report on the Southwick bill to protect free labor and the industries in which it is employed from the "injurious effects of convict labor" by confining the sale of goods manufactured by convict labor to the state in which they are produced. An amendment was adopted exempting manufactured agricultural products from the restriction imposed. The report says:

"Some states having, in a great measure, protected their own business enterprises and labor from the unequal competition of their prisoners, send traveling agents of their penitentiaries into other states to dispose of convict-made goods at prices that utterly defy competition from those who employ free labor. It is evident that this is a wrong which should not be permitted to continue if a remedy can be applied."

"The report asserts that nothing less than the enactment of such national legislation as will effectually prohibit the interstate transportation of prison-made goods will be found efficacious. The committee believe that in the bill reported will be found such remedy for the wrongs complained of as is within the power of congress to apply and is desired alike by capital and labor."

Marrow. The loss is about $7,000 and the insurance $3,000. The fire was evidently the work of incendiaries as Mr. Marrow had received several threatening letters lately.

WOMEN WIN A VICTORY.

Admitted to the General Conference at Cleveland as Delegates.

Cleveland, Ohio, May 2.—Four Methodist women are seated in the general conference. The practice of the Methodist church since its foundation has been overturned. Woman won Friday the first skirmish in her fight for the right to take part in the work of the church as a lay delegate in the quadrennial conference which makes its laws. Final and complete victory may come Monday. She has every advantage on her side except tradition, prejudice and conservatism. She is holding four seats by right of the credentials of the lay electoral conferences, and her opponents must turn her out if they can. Her friends are in the majority, and they declare she is in the general conference to stay. The question at issue was referred to a committee, which will report two resolutions Monday, one for and the other against the admission of women, and the fight will then be to a finish.

The four women who took part in the work of the general conference and may be the pioneers of the new era in the great Methodist Episcopal church are:

Mrs. Jane Field Bashford, of Delaware, Ohio, wife of Rev. Dr. James W. Bashford, president of the Ohio Wesleyan University; born at Fenimore, Wis.; joined the church at Bosobel, Wis., in 1868, and is a steward in her church.

Mrs. Louise S. Parker, of Lucknow, India, missionary for thirty-seven years and editor of the Star of India; born at St. Johnsbury, Vt.; joined the church at Concord, N. H., in 1856.

Mrs. Ada Cythera Butcher, of Bareilly, India, wife of Rev. J. C. Butcher, M. D., missionary for more than eight years; born near Roscoe, Ill., and joined the church at Fairfield, Ill., in 1877.

Miss Lydia A. Trimble, teacher in the woman's school at Hok-Chiang, China, but home at Essex, Ontario, Canada, on a furlough; born near Ottawa, Canada; teacher in Iowa in 1882 and sent to Foo Chow as a missionary in 1889 from the Des Moines branch of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society.

AN ARDEN IN ABSENCE ONLY.

When His Wife Preferred No. 2, Jacobson Invoked the Law.

Peoria, Ill., May 2.—The sheriff's force Friday afternoon arrested Edward Hattes, a farmer residing near Elmwood, and his wife on a charge of bigamy. The grand jury, which meets Monday, will consider the case. According to the statement of facts, Ella Berndtsen was raised in Norway, where May 29, 1892, she married Henning Jacobson, who at once went to sea. He was gone so long that she gave him up for dead and came to America, locating in Marseilles, where in 1894 she was married to Edward Hattes, who took her to his farm at Elmwood. Jacobson put in an appearance Sunday morning and demanded his wife. He said he had been searching for her several years. She refused to return to him, and he had her and her husband arrested for bigamy.

SELLERS FOUND INSANE.

His Attorneys Say That Relatives Are After His Property.

Bluffton, Ind., May 2.—Kerlin S. Sellers, aged 73, a well-known farmer of Rock Creek township, has been found insane by a jury of the Wells county circuit court. His attorneys say they will appeal to the supreme court. For forty-four years he has been a resident of the county and until recently was the owner of a fine estate, valued at $8,000. Soon after the death of his first wife he married again, and in the settlement of his estate mortgaged a part of his property to his son Richard. A litigation followed, with family quarrels. Sellers grew despondent and attempted to end his life by cutting his throat. His wife and second children then brought him into the courts on the question of dangerous insanity. The jury, after twelve hours' deliberation, found him mentally deranged.

Toadstools the Cause of Death.

Unthoughtfully she touched an open scratch on her face with her hand and blood poison set in two days later. Her face was badly swollen and she died in agony last night.

PLANTS GROW APACE IN THE HOT BEDS

TOBACCO SETTINGS ARE EXCEPTIONALLY FORWARD.

Janesville Market Is Enveloped In Deep Gloom With Only Occasional Rifts In the Dark Clouds—Light Business Done at Edgerton—Some Local Leaf Notes.

Never before, in the past decade, have tobacco plants been so early, vigorous and plentiful as at present, the atmospheric conditions being favorable in the extreme for the young plants, says the Janesville Leaf. Many have reported having plants with leaves as large as one finger nail, a remarkably early start for the last of April.

During the past two weeks occasional rifts have been seen in the dense clouds that have enshrouded our market for some time past, and small sunbeams glint through, giving life to the hope that some time in the near future the great golden orb of prosperity will shine forth in all its resplendent glory.

A moderate amount of activity is still displayed by our dealers more especially by some two or three of them, who seem to have awakened from the Rip Van Winkle sleep of the past two years.

During the past week Geo. H. Ruzrill has purchased 285 cases of '95 and sold 120 cases of '93 and '94; J. L. & M. F. Greene sold 150 cases of '92; Soverhill & Porter are still riding for '95, as are also Joseph Grundy and Samuel Grundy. The sale of several lots is still holding fire, but some of them will doubtless make a go of it.

Small Trade at Edgerton

The Edgerton Reporter says less business has been done in local markets the past week than for some time past, in fact trade is reduced to such small proportions that it is difficult to make quotations. Assessment time is at hand and there seems to be a disposition with packers to allow tobacco to remain in growers' hands until after the property is listed for next year's taxes.

The only sales reaching us except some cheap 2 and 3 cent lots are: Nick Altemus, 9a '95 at 6 and 1c assorted; George Scofield, 190a '94 at 6c; C. Christiansen, 13cs '93 at 6 and 4 cents.

Business with packers is remarkably quiet. A. S. Flagg reports the sale of 100 cases to New York parties and Bernard & Wilder an export lot, comprises the only movements reported.

The young plants are appearing on the seed bed and are numerous and healthy. The great trouble will be if the present weather continues, that the plants are too forward. The shipments have fallen off materially.

Local Leaf Notes.

J. L. & M. F. Greene have sixteen assorters at work.

Soverhill & Porter shipped seven cars of tobacco this week, four from Milton and three from this city.

J. A. Ryan returned Saturday from a weeks trip among cigar manufacturers and reported business still rather quiet.

S. B. Heddles spent Monday and Tuesday morning among the leaf men of Chicago, to whom he displayed a fine line of samples.

J. L. & M. F. Greene shipped a car of '92 from their warehouse in each of the following cities: Milton, Edgerton and Janesville.

J. H. Haviland is confined to the house much of the time by sickness, only getting down to the office for a short time on pleasant days.

Five hundred and thirteen cases of '94 and '95 bought and 307 cases of '93 and '94 sold is a pretty good record for two weeks. That is what George Ruzrill did, besides shipping two cars Saturday.

The Brodhead Independent Speaks of Dr. Whiting's Fine Medal.

The Brodhead Independent says: Surgeon General Whiting, of the Grand Army of the Republic, was recently presented with a handsome gold badge of his rank, by W. H. SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS MEET

Evangelist Burnell Talked at the Baptist Church Last Night

Janesville Sunday school workers gathered at the Baptist church parlors last evening, to listen to an address by Rev. R. K. Burnell, the evangelist who is conducting the Sunday school campaign in Rock county, and last night's meeting was for the purpose of interesting the Janesville workers therein. The plan is to make a house to house canvass and secure the names of members of families, thereby obtaining a complete census. He expects to carry this work as far forward as possible in person, and then leave it to the local workers to finish. Another object of his visit is to urge the different churches and the Young Men's Christian association to adopt a daily prayer service.

Mr. Burnell is a pleasant speaker, and his words made a lasting impression on his audience. He told of the need of the work and outlined some plans of procedure, urging all to take hold and help. The meeting was closed by prayer by Mr. Burnell and the pronouncing of the benediction by Rev. Dr. Hodge, who presided at the meeting.

Why

Do people buy Hood's Sarsaparilla in preference to any other,—in fact almost to the exclusion of all others?

Because

They know from actual use that Hood's is the best, i. e., it cures when others fail. Hood's Sarsaparilla is still made under the personal supervision of the educated pharmacists who originated it.

The question of best is just as positively decided in favor of Hood's as the question of comparative sales.

Another thing: Every advertisement of Hood's Sarsaparilla is true, is honest.

NEW SCHOOL BOARD MEETS

President Goldin's Committee's Named Last Night—Other Business.

The new school board met last night for the first time, and President T. W. Goldin announced the committees as follows:

Finance—Clemens, Shearer and Weisend.
Books—Cunningham, Hayner and Burdette.
Buildings—Shearer, Cunningham and Hayner.
Situation—Weisend, Cunningham and Burdette.
Teachers—Clemens, Shearer and Weisend.

The clerk stated that the city treasurer's report showed that there was a balance of $15,588.18 in the school fund, and bills amounting to $282.66 were paid, after which Commissioner Clemens introduced the following resolution, which was adopted:

RESOLVED, That the clerk of the board of education be and is hereby instructed to keep a complete and accurate account of all items of receipt and expenditures for the ensuing year, books to be provided for that purpose. Such accounts to be classified into various funds, and at a report be rendered to the board at each regular meeting. That the clerk is hereby authorized to purchase such books as may be necessary.

President Goldin then said that the board must report as to the amount of funds needed for the year at the first meeting of the common council in June and suggested that a statement of the amount required to run the schools the past year be made out, together with a notice of the shortage of the state fund this year, and submit the same to the common council. He then said that more than $18,000 could not be raised, and under the charter as it stood present. If that portion had been raised when the charter was revised, the amount of the sum required would have been left in the hands of the board, but if it is not revised before the next President Goldin thought on—$18,000 could be obtained. The board was left with the finance committee.

The president stated that the report of the committee on teachers would be acted upon at the next regular meeting. He thought that was a little late, as it often worked to disadvantage, but there was no remedy unless the rules were changed.

ENGINEERS' AND FIREMEN DANCE

Union May Party Last Evening Was a Very Pleasant Affair.

Janesville railroad engineers and firemen joined in their annual party at the Armory last night, and a merry time they had. Smith's orchestra rendered fine music; the decorations were tasteful; all details were skillfully arranged; and in fact, nothing was lacking that would have added to the enjoyment of the guests. Supper was served at McDonald's new restaurant, and was all that could be desired. The railroad men never do things by halves, and the planning and carrying out of the night's party, they fairly outdid themselves. The committees having an affair in charge were: Arrangements—Engineers Jay Walker, L. E. Seavert and E. E. Watson. Firemen—J. W. Hagar, Grant Smith and William Strommen. Floor—Engineers W. H. Brazzle, L. Nichols and A. R. Talmadge. Ushers—John Falter, William H. Hallman and John Carney.

PICTURE OF "KING LEAR AT 21"

Montana Theatrical Manager Had To Have a Cut of Some Kind.

The enterprise of the western theatrical manager is exemplified in the following story related by Arthur F. Ward, the manager of the distinguished tragedian, Frederick Warde, who was here yesterday. Mr. Warde reached a small town in Montana where the local manager had such faith in the drawing power of the elder Warde and the loyalty of his people to the legitimate drama that he gave up a large sized guarantee for a single performance of "King Lear." When the younger Warde arrived he called on the manager of the theatre and was in the act of bidding the local manager good afternoon after making arrangements.

"Hold on!" said the impresario, "you forgot to leave me some newspaper cuts of Warde as King Lear." "The fact is," replied Mr. Warde, "I haven't any engravings of my father in that character. The only thing in the way of a cut that I have, is Rinaldo in 'The Lion's Mouth,' and as that is a picture of a youth of twenty-one, it would hardly do to run it and call it 'King Lear,' whom everybody knows to be a grizzled old veteran of eighty years of age."

"Well, you just leave me what you got, and I'll fix it all right," said the other. When Mr. Warde reached Denver he found a newspaper among the mail, and in the theatrical column was the picture which he left with the Montana manager, with this under-line: "King Lear at 21." Mr. Warde will be here Thursday, May 7.

PASTOR IS CALLED TO FULTON

Rev. B. F. Martin Will Remove—Death of Mrs. Brown.

Fulton, May 1—At the church meeting Monday night a call was made for B. F. Martin to fill the pulpit for the coming year. He has accepted and begins May 1. All who have met Mr. Martin will be glad to hear that he will be with us for this year. This community was greatly shocked and grieved to learn of the sudden death of Mrs. James Brown, Monday evening, April 27, after a sickness of about thirty-six hours.

Miss Minnie Brophy was born in Waukegan, Walworth county, in 1869 and was married to James Brown in February, 1888 at Troy Center, where they resided until about four weeks ago, when they moved to Fulton and took possession of the Clough House. She leaves a husband, a little girl three years old, father, mother, five brothers and six sisters. The body was taken to her home for burial. The funeral will be held in the Catholic church, of which she was a member. Mrs. Lizzie Stone visited relatives in Janesville Monday and Tuesday. Fred and Charlie Ten Eyck, of Center, made a short stay in town Tuesday. Miss Jennie Lyntz visited relatives in town over Sunday, returning to Janesville with her grandmother, Mrs. Stone, on Monday. Mrs. Lizzie Miller, of Troy Center, was called here by telegraph Monday, by the sickness of her sister, Mrs. Brown. Some very fine fish are being caught here this spring, and in larger quantities than for the last two years. F. H. Penne has gone north to enjoy hunting and fishing. Mrs. Hattie Brown is on the sick list. David Johnson is very poorly. Ole Oberg has moved to the Albert Rice farm for the coming year. Herbert Murwin passed last Wednesday in Janesville on business. S. H. Bentley has commenced work over to Evansville for the summer. Willie Jones has been very sick with pneumonia but is better now and on the gain.

Rock River Gossip.

IMPORTANT TO SUFFERERS.

HOW YOU MAY OBTAIN A LASTING CURE FROM PILES.

No Surgical Operation, No Pain, Trifling Expense—A Simple, Harmless Remedy, But It Does the Work.

There are some people who have piles as frequently and regularly as other people have colds.

Any little bowel trouble will bring them on, any extra exertion, as in lifting, will produce them, and in fact will often appear without any apparent provocation. Piles, however, are much more serious than a cold, as the tendency is always to grow worse until the trouble becomes deep seated and chronic, or develops into some fatal rectal disease.

While there are many pile remedies which give relief, yet there is but one which not only gives instant relief but at the same time makes a permanent cure, and that is the well known Pyramid Pile Cure.

This remedy is composed of simple, harmless, vegetable ingredients, but combine so effectively and act so promptly and thoroughly that it cures every form of piles whether itching, blind, bleeding or protruding.

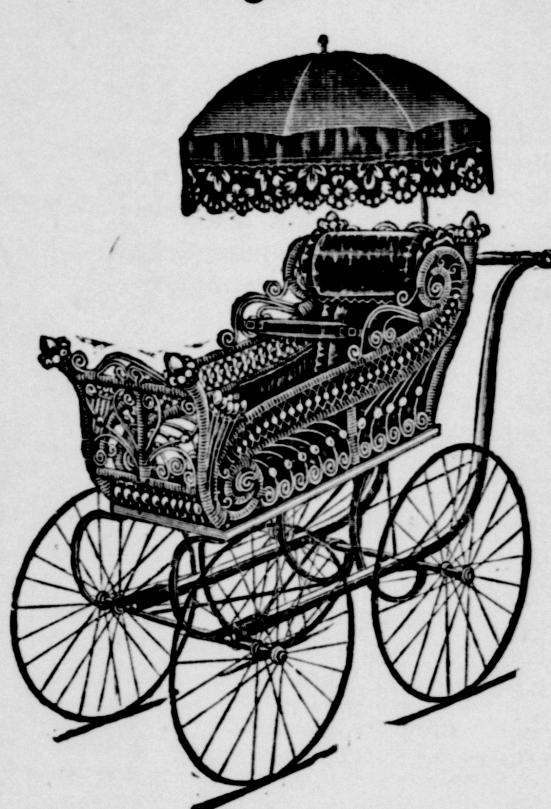

In long standing cases the Pyramid Pile Cure has proven to be the only certain cure except a surgical operation, and its advantages over an operation are many, as its painlessness, causes no delay or interference with daily occupation and, last but not least, is cheaper than any surgical operation could possibly be, costing but a dollar a package at any drug store.

The cases that the Pyramid Pile Cure will not reach are so few that physicians are doing away with operations for piles and depending on this cheap but effective remedy to accomplish a complete cure, and it never disappoints except in cases beyond the reach of medical skill.

The Pyramid Pile Cure is prepared by the Pyramid Drug Co. of Albion, Mich., and for sale by druggists everywhere at 50 cents per package. Each package contains a treatise on cause and cure of piles, together with testimonials from every section of this country.

FOR YOUR PROTECTION—Catarrh "Cures" or Tonics for Catarrh in liquid form to be taken internally, usually contain Mercury or Iodine or Potassa, or both, which are injurious if too long taken. Catarrh is a local, not a blood disease, caused by sudden change to cold or damp weather. It starts in the nasal passages, affecting eyes, ears and throat. Cold in the head causes excessive flow of mucus, and, if repeatedly neglected, the results of catarrh will follow: severe pain in the head, a roaring sound in the ears, bad breath, and oftentimes an offensive discharge. The remedy should be quick to allay inflammation and heal the membrane. Ely's Cream Balm is the acknowledged cure for these troubles and contains no mercury nor any injurious drug. Price, 50 cents.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY.

1493—The famous bull issued by Pope Alexander VI giving nearly all America to Spain.

1740—Elias Boudinot, American soldier and statesman, born in Philadelphia; died 1821.

1764—Robert Hall, famous and eloquent Baptist preacher, born in Leicestershire; died 1831.

1813—Last battle of Lutzen; Bonaparte defeated the Russians and Prussians.

1857—Alfred de Musset, French poet, died at Paris; born 1812. A French reviewer says of De Musset, "None of his illustrious contemporaries has surpassed him in spontaneity of poetical genius, in the ardent and sincere expression of passion, in vivacity, grace and elan of soul." Among his finest works are four poems, entitled the "Nights." They describe night in the months of May, August, October and December.

1871—A tornado swept Baton Rouge, destroying many lives and much property.

1890—General Henri Francois Xavier Gresly, soldier and statesman, died in Paris; born 1829.

1894—Colonel A. B. Steinburger, prominent in Samoan affairs in the seventies, died at Dorchester, Mass.; born 1840.

Congressman Draper, of Mass., was right when he said: "Protection is more necessary to the interests of this country than any form of money. With a high protective tariff we can succeed, although our currency might take the form of silver or copper or any other metal. But our industries cannot prosper with the best money in the world if we have free trade."

The British government is finding out that although President Kruger's picture makes him look like an easy victim for a bunco steerer, he has all the proverbial shrewdness of a dutchman.

The total deficit for the three fiscal years, ending June 30, next, will exceed $136,000,000. Is it any wonder that the people are anxious to put the republicans back into power?

The democrats are not even certain of carrying Texas this year, as the populists appear to have more than a fighting chance to win in that state.

Hon. William Russell need not worry about the enormous responsibility of the president of the United States; he'll never be asked to shoulder it.

The famous De Moss family, which will appear at the Y. M. C. A. building Wednesday evening, May 6, are musical wonders. JUDSON BARNES DROPS DEAD.

The Former Janesville Man Suddenly Called at Brodhead.

Judson Barnes, who resided for forty years in this city, dropped dead of heart disease at his Brodhead home last evening at 6 o'clock.

BENEATH A CLOUD OF SORROW

Elias J. Hayner.

Elias J. Hayner, one of Rock County's pioneer settlers, died at his home in the town of Rock yesterday morning, aged seventy-eight years, and the funeral will be held from the home Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Mr. Hayner's demise was very sudden, and was due to heart failure. He was enjoying his usual health on Thursday, but when the call came the end was a peaceful one. Mr. Hayner was born in Rensselaer County, New York, and came to Wisconsin in 1854, since which time he had resided on the homestead in the town of Rock.

He had been twice married, and leaves a widow to mourn his death, his first wife having died some years ago. Mr. Hayner was a man of many sterling traits of character, and his demise will be generally regretted.

John H. McKeigue.

Death's call came very suddenly to John H. McKeigue early this morning. Mr. McKeigue had been about town yesterday afternoon and apparently in good health. He resided with his parents at 306 South River street, and was taken sick at his home, dying at 2:15 o'clock of hemorrhage of the bowels.

He was well known in the city, having been a leader in the cigar makers' union, and a prominent figure in labor circles. He was born August 22, 1858, and had spent most of his life in this city. His death was a great surprise to his friends and a blow to the family.

Funeral of Mrs. Gowdey.

A large circle of friends paid their last tribute to Mrs. E. C. Gowdey this afternoon. Funeral services were held from the residence at 58 South Jackson street, at 3 o'clock, conducted by the Rev. E. H. Jones, of the First Presbyterian church, the interment being at Oak Hill cemetery. The pall bearers were: Silas Hayner, Edward Ruger, James Mount, James Hume, James Shearer and M. H. Soverhill.

Fairland, Ill. Bank Is Closed.

Tuscola, Ill., May 2.—The Bank of Fairland, Ill., has closed its doors for business. There is due the depositors about $8,000. They will be paid in full. The closing of the institution was brought about by the president, John D. Saltzer, becoming mentally unbalanced, and a conservator has been appointed for him by the court. A few years ago he accidentally shot a boy's eye out, and the regret and worry over the occurrence has caused his reason to be shaken. He paid the boy $5,000 for the loss he caused him.

A LOGICAL QUESTION.

"Don't you cry, my little boy. Crying will make you ugly."
"Did you cry very much when you were a little girl?"—Judy.

When any part of the body isn't doing the work that nature intended it to do, it puts the whole system out of tune—out of harmony. Sickness in one part of the body is likely to run into all parts of the body. When children stand a row of bricks on end, they knock the whole row down by upsetting one brick. That is exactly what happens to the health when the bowels fail to perform their proper function. Constipation makes trouble all along the line—puts the liver out of order, is bad for the kidneys—bad for the stomach. It holds in the body poisonous matter, and because it cannot go any place else, it gets into the blood. The blood carries it all over the system. That makes sluggishness, lassitude, bad breath and foul taste in the mouth, fills the stomach with gas and causes windy belching, stops digestion in the stomach, causes sour stomach, heartburn and headache. You can avoid all such trouble, for Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation and its attendant evils.

THE PERRY SUIT FINISHED TODAY.

TWELVE MEN GET THE CASE ON MONDAY.

Judge Bennett Dismisses the Action as Far as the Church Is Concerned, Thus Leaving the City the Sole Defendant—Sentence Johnson on Monday.

Whether or not Abbie Perry will recover damages from the city of Janesville because of injuries alleged to have been received by a fall at the Presbyterian church, now rests with the jury. The arguments were finished this noon, and Judge Bennett's charge will be delivered on Monday.

That she will recover nothing from the church is certain, for Judge Bennett this morning dismissed the action, as far as the church was concerned. The court was inclined to take that action yesterday, when Attorney Nolan, in behalf of the church, made a motion to that effect, but at City Attorney McElroy's request he reserved his ruling until today. This morning he was given a copy of the decision of the supreme court in the Bellet-Saleman case, and the motion of the church's attorney was granted. This left the city the sole defendant. The twelve men are:

Chas. H. Woodbury, D. M. Barless, Thomas Steele, Charles Griffin, Robert Heath, William Bishop, W. S. Thom, W. C. Duthie, George Hooker, Walter Honeysett, J. M. Cleveland and William Winkley.

The accident happened on Feb. 21, 1892. The fall broke the bones of the plaintiff's right leg at the ankle and she alleges that she was permanently disabled in consequence. Nelson Lane is her attorney, while City Attorney McElroy appeared for the city and Sutherland & Nolan for the church.

C. D. Johnson who pleaded guilty to the charge of receiving stolen property was not sentenced today as was expected. His case will be passed upon on Monday.

The case of Ryan versus Schultz or the case of Roberts against VanEtta will be taken up Monday.

POKER GAME RAIDED AT FINLEY'S PLACE

CHIEF ACHESON TOOK A HAND HIMSELF.

He Also Took All the Chips and the Names of the Players—Each Pays a Ten Dollar Fine in the Municipal Court This Morning.

Chief of Police Acheson took a hand in a poker game at Finley's saloon late yesterday afternoon, and all speculation stopped with a jerk. This morning Finley and five players were arraigned in the municipal court, and all pleaded guilty. Fines of $10 and costs were imposed in each case, amounting to $12.90 in all. The men arrested were Thomas Connors, Charles Abblett, James Keough, Richard Finley and Herman Arndt.

The game was found at 5:30 o'clock by Chief Acheson. The men were playing at a table in a small room in the rear of the saloon. A gas jet burned over their heads, and the chips were rattling merrily when the officer entered. He had no difficulty in obtaining access to the room, as the door was not locked. When the players saw who the visitor was, they all dropped the cards, and the game came to a sudden end. The chief then took down the names of all the men but upon their promise to be in the municipal court this morning, they were allowed to go. They were all on hand when the cases were called this morning and took their medicine with the best possible grace.

Chief Acheson captured the cards and chips they were playing with, for use as evidence, and his pockets were bulging full of the red, white and blue discs of commerce.

TWO CASES ENDED BY SUPREME COURT

ROCK COUNTY MATTERS ARE PASSED UPON.

Judgment of the Lower Court Is Affirmed in the Case of Pomeroy Against Pomeroy, and Jeffries Versus the Fitchburg Railroad Company.

The supreme court yesterday decided two cases in which Janesville people and Janesville lawyers were interested.

The case of Hiram S. Pomeroy vs. William H. Pomeroy and Julia T. Pomeroy is an action arising over property formerly owned by Chester Pomeroy (deceased), to eject the defendants from property consisting of farm lands in Rock county, which he claims should have come upon him as heir. In the lower court Hiram Pomeroy was successful in establishing his claim to the property, and also recovered a judgment of $370 damages. Judgment was affirmed.

Jeffries vs. Pittsburg Railway Co. The case of David K. Jeffries vs. the Pittsburg Railroad company is a suit to recover $367.61 for lumber which it is claimed was shipped via the company's line, which was originally loaded at Gagen, Wis., and which it was claimed was never delivered at Boston, its destination. In the lower court the plaintiff got a judgement, from which the railroad company appealed. Judgment was affirmed.

THE GAS STOVE

has brought about an evolution in cooking. But a few years ago people knew little of the use of gas for anything but for lighting purposes and little dreamed that in so short a time it would be used in stoves for cooking and heating with great success. But few housekeepers there are in the city who will do without a Gas Stove, especially for warm weather use. Nine out of ten houses have Gas Stoves in them, and every day we are adding to the list of people who like conveniences.

DOES A GENERAL

THE WANDERER.

On a certain height, far from the sea,
I sat, listening to the lonely thing
Of ocean seemed to sing,
The shell upon that mountain
I can say
There dropped by some too careless There east when ocean swept the Eternal had ordained the day?
Was it not? Far from its native deep,
As it sang,
The awful mysteries of the tide,
The misty sea, profound and wide,
With echoes of the ocean rang.

On a shell upon the mountain height
The sea
Far, leagues and leagues away,
I, wandering where I may,
Home; sing, O my home, of the WARTIME.

On the dam the water wheel of The miller, creaked noisily in His revolutions, while from
The bank the mill of Anselmo
A muffled accompaniment.
From childhood, the lives of The old widower millers of 70
A contradiction to the popu-
Concerning men of the same

The picturesque beauty of the Enzebio's mill the pasture
Gently to the river's edge,
It ran the pathway down
The mill were driven, laden
The mill. Along the bank
The tall poplars threw fantastic Upon the placid surface of The pond. The river slipped easily Between its sandy margins, now
In the sunlight, now hiding
Within the recesses of some cane
And emerging at length to Clear and transparent streams of ing water upon the wheel, which ed them into a snowy whiteness.
Summer, when the water was low,
The old comrades used often to visit
The other, boldly crossing the stream
A stepping stones below the dam,
Then the autumn rains had swollen
The low moving river into a noisy tor-
They were obliged to content them-
With calling from bank to bank.
Sometimes Enzebio would say:
"Speak louder, Anselmo. I don't hear

"What do you say?" the other would Advancing to the river's edge and ing forward anxiously.
And Enzebio, making a speaking mpet of his hands, would shout:
"I don't understand."

When they finally succeeded in making themselves heard, they would agree at the water wheels were more noisy an they used to be, and that the river
I never been so turbulent. Ah, yes!
was the creaking of the wheels that ot them from hearing and not the ight of the years pressing upon their oulders!

Enzebio had a son, a fine looking felw of 22, tall, well built and as right as an arrow. A great worker, ybreak would find him already busy his father's mill. "He toils like a or!" the neighbors would say ap-rovingly. Every one liked Simon, and was a general favorite at the merryaking of the neighboring villages.
Sometimes after one of these gatherings
e priest, a staid and solemn personage, ould come to remonstrate with Enze-o upon his son's behavior of the night efore, whereat the old man was accusomed to shake his head reprovingly and ast down his eyes, whether to better express his condemnation or to hide the twinkle in them no one ever knew.

And Anselmo had a daughter, Margarida by name, a pretty girl of 19, with that sweet, natural beauty of the country, and her loveliness of face and form was but a fitting accompaniment to a gentle and loving disposition. Margarida and Simon had been playmates from babyhood, but when the girl had reached her fifteenth year this childish intimacy began to give place to a maidenly reserve on her part and to an attitude of chivalrous devotion on the part of her companion, while in his heart a deep and earnest love was slowly springing into life.

Margarida would feign annoyance whenever Simon summoned up the courage to speak of his love and of the pain her indifference gave to him, and with a frown on her pretty face would abruptly change the subject. The maiden's disdain of her lover's pleadings, however, merely added fuel to the passion that flamed in the heart of the young miller.

"Margarida," he said to her one day,
"if thou wilt not marry me, I shall have to die a bachelor."

"There are plenty of girls, Simon,"
"And see thee become another's!"
cried the lad, with tears in his eyes. "I don't know what I should do—it would kill me!"

And was Margarida so cruel as really despise the love of her childhood's friend and playfellow? Wait awhile;
we shall soon see how far a woman's love and devotion can go.

At the time of which we write war had just broken out between the followers of Dom Pedro and Dom Miguel.
When the terrifying news reached the village, the mothers shuddered as they looked upon their sons, returning weary from the plow.

"Nobody knows the number killed," said the messenger. "It is the end of the world!"

The next day a squad of soldiers entered the village, and, marching to Enze-bio's mill, drew up line, while the officer in command, with a couple of privates, entered. A few minutes later the horror-stricken neighbors saw them
march away with Simon in their midst, with bound arms like a felon apprehended of justice. The father tried to follow them, but age and weakness held him back. Hearing the cries of the people, Margarida came running to the end when they told her that Simon

Dom Pedro, she fell fainting in Enze-bio's arms.

A week later shots were heard in the distance and the bugle calls of a battalion. A skirmish was evidently taking place near by. At midday a column of troopers passed through the village, and all pressed forward to see if Simon were among them. Yes, there he was, but how changed! Breathless and exhausted, covered with dust, his shoes in holes and clothing torn, they saw him march by, bending wearily beneath the weight of his knapsack. As he passed them he nodded to his acquaintances, while his eyes searched eagerly for a glimpse of Margarida or his father, but in vain! And so, with a heavy heart, he passed on.

When Margarida was told that her lover had just gone by, she wanted to run ahead and catch up with the battalion.

"And mingle with the rough soldiers!" cried an ancient dame. "Get save us, child! Dost thou know what thou art saying?"

"Is not Simon a soldier, Aunt Ju-quina?" asked the girl tearfully.

At nightfall a melancholy procession neared the village. A file of soldiers led the way. Behind them came a moving line of farm wagons, making shift ambulances, filled with the wounded. There they lay, heaped together the dead among the dying. Oh, it was a pitiful sight! The sobbing women ran from cart to cart, searching for the face of some loved one.

Suddenly, from amid the cloud of dust surrounding one of the ambulances,
a faint cry was heard:

"Fa-ther! Mar-gar-ida! I am dying!"

And one of the wounded men was seen to let his head fall forward upon his breast, while from the edge of the wagon his left arm hung limply.

The soldier leading the horses of this ambulance shook his head as Margarida came running toward him, asking for her lover. The rumble of the cart wheels droned her words. Sorrowfully she turned away, but as the cart passed her the arm extended from its side caught her eye, and springing forward she seized the hand in hers, and examining with intemperate a ring the dead man wore fell back into the arms of her friends, with the cry of a breaking heart:

"Oh, Simon, my love! Dead! Dead!"

When a neighbor went to Enzebio's house to tell him of his son's death, he found the old man seated on the edge of his bed, praying, with his eyes fixed on a crucifix he held in his hand.

"Pray for his soul," said the friend
sadly.

The old miller, who had become very deaf, raised his head and asked in alarm, "What is it?" putting his hand to his ear.

"Dead," shouted the other.

Enzebio rose to his feet, and, with pale face and set eyes, made his way to the head of the bed, and took down an old musket that hung there.

"What is that for, Uncle Enzebio?"
inquired his friend.

"I will kill them!" said the old man,
in a trembling voice. "I will kill them!"

But as he crossed the threshold of his house, gun in hand, a volley rang out from the foremost squad, and the old man fell forward on his face, dead.

The next morning a neighbor's boy came running home, white with fear, sobbing and trembling, and told his mother that a little below the dam he had seen the body of a woman, drifting
—drifting—

In after years I revisited the scenes of my childhood. It was a beautiful April morning. I found Margarida's father seated in front of his mill, his chair by the river's edge, enjoying the warmth of returning spring. He told me of Simon's death and of the tragic fate of his friend Enzebio, but when he began to speak of his daughter, his voice failed him, and, turning his head away, he whispered to himself:

"Oh, my Margarida!"
And silent, motionless, like a man in a dream, he gazed with fixed eyes upon the river that slid softly by his feet, as though within its depths he beheld her smiling face.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Couldn't Congratulate Her.

M. Paul Deroude, the French poet and dramatist, was captain of a company in the service of the Versailles government of national defense in 1871. At one time he had to lead his company against a street barricade in Paris raised by communists.

Some signs of resistance had been observed behind. As Deroude marched his men onward, a woman sprang to the top of the barricade, aimed a chaspepot rifle at the leader and fired.

The soldiers ducked their heads, but no one was hit. They marched on, Deroude in advance. He smiled, eyeing calmly the woman, who leveled her gun at him and fired again. Once more no one was hit. On went the soldiers steadily, their captain smiling, the woman on the barricade continuing to charge her piece and to fire each time
as nearly as she could at Deroude.

Presently, however, the soldiers were away her gun and stood with folded arms. She was one of the petroleuses—the furious fighting women of the commune. Deroude looked behind the barricade to see who else was defending it. No one was there; the woman was alone.

Then he took off his cap, bowed low to the woman, and said very politely,
"Madam, I regret exceedingly that I am unable to congratulate you, but really, in view of your marksmanship, I cannot."—Youth's Companion.

"Ah—um—really, you will have to excuse me," said the young man to whom the young woman was about to sell three tickets for a mush-and-milk supper. "I have a pressing engagement."
And he passed on.

A few minutes later and a few doors further on she saw him dive into a "trousers-creased-while-you-wait" establishment.

"A pressing engagement?" she mused.
"I wonder," she continued, relapsing from English into chimmiefadden, "I wonder if he was joshing me."—Indian-

His Blooming Mixture.

A countryman of Goethe gives an other instance of the difficulty a foreigner has with the English language. He was invited out to dinner soon after his arrival in England and was desirous of saying something in a very pleasant way, and made use of the following expression: "Will you have the blooming kindness to," etc.

He used it in the sense that the word
"blooming" is used in German as being something very charming and beautiful, little knowing what havoc slang has played with the word in England.

He was absolutely at a loss to understand why everybody was so utterly horrified at what he thought was an extremely nice expression.

To Skeptics...

You have a right to disbelieve us if you are a stranger to our clothing. When we claim that our clothes are as good in material, as good in tailoring, and as good fitting clothes as your tailor can produce, you have a right to doubt. But have you a right to deny the facts until you are able to disprove them? Maybe you are basing your doubts on the way ready-to-wear clothes were made ten or a dozen years ago. If that's the case we can certainly open your eyes if you'll take the trouble to investigate our argument. There's been a mighty change wrought in some makes of ready-to-wear clothing within the past ten years, and the makes we handle have been the chiefest improvers.
